Geo; T. Day, Rev. A. Woodbury, Hon. Thomas Davis: And Resolutions Adopted at a Meeting of Citizens Held in Providence, R. I., December 2d, 1859 Fellow Citizens: We are assembled under peculiar circumstances. A fellow-citizen has, in the judgment of his peers, violated the laws of a neighboring commonwealth, and for this, stands condemned to die upon the gallows, and this is the day appointed for the execution. Before this, perhaps, the penalty has been paid, and John Brown stands before that higher tribunal to which he made his appeal, where actions are judged by the rules of Eternal right, rather than by those rules of carnal policy and civil expediency which often form the basis of human jurisprudence. Without arraiging the court of Virginia, or presuming to anticipate and declare the judgment of the Judge of all the earth, we may at least be pardoned for assembling at the foot of a gallows to learn a lesson of duty, as we have often assembled, as Christians, at...
